Senate Demos Seek to Outlaw U.S. Communists

Offer Amendment To Administrative Anti-Subversive Bill

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Senate Democrats today unexpectedly moved to outlaw the Communist party. Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn.) introduced an amendment to the Subversive Activities Control Act of 1950 which would make the Communist party illegal and prohibit Communists from serving as union officials.

The Humphrey amendment was co-sponsored by 18 Democrats and one independent. Humphrey, with the support of Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson, assured that there would be a roll call vote on the amendment.

A House Judiciary subcommittee has approved a bill which would outlaw the Communist party.

The Senate amendment had the effect of putting the Republican leadership somewhat on a spot. The administration is opposed to the bill to outlaw the Communist party.

Reject Move to Shelve Bill

Atty. Gen. Herbert Brownell Jr. and FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover have argued that such a measure would only drive the Communists further underground and make it harder to check on them.

The Humphrey amendment was in the form of a substitute for an administration-backed bill which would give the government authority to control "Communist-infiltrated" organizations, particularly labor unions.

He offered the amendment after the Senate rejected a move to shelve the "Communist infiltrated" bill pending a study, by a presidentially appointed commission, into the problem of subversive controls.

By a 56-31 roll call vote, the Senate defeated a proposal by Sen. Warren G. Magnuson (D-Wash.) to substitute for the legislation a resolution establishing a commission, appointed by the President, to study the problem of Communist infiltration and report back to Congress.

The "Communist infiltrated" bill—sponsored by Sen. John Marshall Butler (R-Md.)—is one in a series of anti-subversive bills the Republican leadership is attempting to drive through before adjournment.

Other congressional news:

Defense plants: Two employees of General Electric defense plants were threatened with contempt citations when they refused to tell Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy's investigating subcommittee whether they were Communists. One of them, Louis Passikoff of the GE plant at Schenectady, N. Y., was ejected from the stormy hearing after he shouted defiance at McCarthy.

Heating Rules: Ray H. Jenkins, special counsel of the Army-McCarthy hearings, said congressional committees should adopt stricter rules to bar irrelevant evidence, and hew closer to courtroom practice. He testified before a Senate Rules subcommittee studying a "fair play" code for congressional hearings.

Ships: The House unanimously approved legislation requiring that at least half of all U. S. foreign aid shipments be sent abroad in

Daughter of Actress Stricken by Polio

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Health officers today fought an epidemic outbreak of infantile paralysis that covered sprawling Los Angeles County and has touched the wealthy motion picture colony.

The 9-year-old daughter of film star Maureen O'Sullivan and director John Farrow was among the 500 persons stricken in the county.

One other polio case was reported in Beverly Hills, the suburb where the mansions of many film stars are located. However, no special precautions were planned for the community.

1,612 New Polio Cases Reported

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Public Health Service said today that 1,612 new cases of polio were reported in the nation last week, an increase over the 1,498 reported in the preceding week.

Ohio reported 104 new cases compared with 60 for the preceding week.

California listed 211 new polio cases last week, 84 of them in Los Angeles County. So far this year, the service said, California has had 1,736 polio cases, compared with 948 last year and 1,446 in 1952.

The nation's polio total this year stands at 10,797 cases, compared with 11,710 for the corresponding period of last year.

Miley Named to Group Arranging Eisenhower Day at State Fair

Robert G. Miley of Galatia has been named by Gov. William G. Stratton to the Arrangements committee for Governor's Day at the Illinois State Fair Thursday, Aug. 19, the day that President Eisenhower will speak to the throng on hand.

Miley, chairman of the Saline County Republican Central committee and state superintendent of parks and memorials, also is the president of Republican County Chairman's Association of Illinois. In that capacity he is writing all county chairmen of the state telling of the plans for Governor's Day, which Stratton has set aside as President Eisenhower Day.

The program that day will start at 11:30 a. m. (CST) with a band concert for the thousands of early visitors expected to crowd into the grandstand hours before the President's address, Miley announced.

Expect Record Crowd

He said that a motorcade carrying President Eisenhower and national and state dignitaries is scheduled to leave from the Governor's mansion at 11:30 (CST). It will parade through downtown Springfield and to the fairgrounds.

Time of the parade, however, is subject to change, Miley said, depending upon national radio and television schedules.

Springfield merchants and businessmen, working with the city's Association of Commerce and Industry, are planning special window displays and decorations for President Eisenhower Day. The route of the parade will be marked with Republican Centennial posters and other special designation for the convenience of visitors who wish to view the parade.

One of the largest mid-week crowds in the 102-year history of the state fair is anticipated.

Besides Mr. Miley, others on the arrangements committee are Morton L. Hollingsworth, chairman of the Republican State Central committee, and the elected state officials.

Annual SEIEC Meeting Tonight And Tomorrow

The annual meeting of the South-Eastern Illinois Electric Co-operative is scheduled to get underway this afternoon at 5 o'clock at the co-op's headquarters just south of Eldorado. The meeting will continue through Friday afternoon.

All displays will be open at 5 p. m. today and the program proper starts at 7 with organ music by John La Mothe. Mayor John Upchurch of Eldorado will give the address of welcome and the General Electric House of Magic, an hour show, is listed to start at 7:35.

Other events tonight include the talent contest, entertainment by Lucky LeRoy, job training and safety demonstration and the program will close with organ music by Mr. La Mothe, who will also appear on the Friday morning and afternoon programs.

Leaders of the local, who had urged acceptance of the thinner pay envelope, called today's vote after receiving employees' petitions to reconsider last week's decision.

The election was held in a foot-ball field so all 11,000 employees could vote if they wished. However, Forrest Hanna, the local's vice-president, expected only 7,000 to show up.

Studebaker asked its employees to take the wage cut to help the company hold its own in the tight auto market.

Paul Hoffman, chairman of the company's board of directors, offered to speak at today's vote meeting, but union officials turned him down. Any speeches by Hoffman would have to be made on company time, they said.

UN Turns Over Seized Territory To South Korea

Transfer of Allied Bulge Seen Major Concession to Rhee

SEOUL, Korea (UPI)—The United Nations Command announced today it was handing over 2,000 square miles of captured North Korean territory to the Republic of Korea.

It was seen as a major concession to Korean President Syngman Rhee, who has been clamoring for unification of the entire peninsula, by force if necessary.

Transfer of the property, which has been governed by U. N. military authorities, was not expected to affect future negotiations for settlement of the Korean question.

U. N. Commander Gen. John E. Hull noted in a letter to Rhee that he is prepared to turn over to ROK authorities the Allied bulge, north of the 38th parallel, only ground won by U. N. forces in the Korean war.

Hull's action ended a long dispute between the Republic of Korea and the U. N. Command.

Hull's move followed a resolution adopted in Seoul Monday by the seven-nation U. N. Commission for the Unification and Rehabilitation of Korea urging the U. N. Command to give up its military government.

130,000 Population

The area has been administered by the U. N. Command under a military governorship since the signing of the Korean truce agreement.

It has a population of about 130,000 and its 2,054 square miles include thousands of acres of rich farmland and several tungsten mines.

Under the pre-Korean war Russian occupation, farms were divided in a Soviet-styled land reform and parceled out to tenant farmers. Many landowners fled to South Korea before the war started but some have returned to work in the bulge under the U. S. 8th Army's farm resettlement program this year.

Rhee apparently did not receive all of the military and economic aid he requested from President Eisenhower in their recent Washington talks but was handed the bulge instead, some observers thought.

The territory lies south of the truce line as it swings north across the old parallel near Vegas outpost on the west central front and continues north in an S-shape to the east coast.

Britain Accepts Bid for Group To Visit Moscow

LONDON (UPI)—The British Parliament announced today that it had accepted an invitation from Russia to send a delegation to visit Moscow this fall.

The Kremlin's invitation, coupled with other recent Soviet overtures for friendship with Britain, stirred speculation in diplomatic circles that British Prime Minister Winston Churchill might be encouraged to renew his effort to arrange a meeting with Soviet Premier Georgi Malenkov.

The new invitation came as a British Laborite delegation was preparing to leave Moscow for Red China after a two-day visit marked by warm social get-togethers between the Britons and Soviet leaders.

The invitation was addressed to the lord chancellor, Lord Simonds, and the speaker of the House of Commons, W. S. Morrison, who accepted in the name of both houses.

It was expected that five leading members of each house, representing all parties, would make up the delegation.

Malenkov Attends Reception

It was not known immediately whether the invitation was decided upon by the Kremlin before Clement Attlee, former prime minister of Britain, and his party of Laborites stopped off in Moscow this week on their way to visit Red China.

But it was the first invitation of this nature to be issued by the Soviet Union since 1945, when a British delegation visited the Supreme Soviet.

The invitation was received, however, in the midst of gestures of good feeling to Britain by the Soviet Union.

Soviet Premier Georgi Malenkov went to the British Embassy in Moscow Wednesday night to attend a reception for Attlee's group and chatted amiably with the former prime minister and other Laborites, including the fiery, anti-American Aneurin Bevan.

Business Decline Halted, Eisenhower Says in Mid- Year Report to Congress

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Eisenhower reported today that the recent business decline has been stopped, and the nation is in a "high—or even an improving—state of economic welfare."

The President said the value of the dollar has remained stable, wages have continued to increase, and wholesale and consumer prices have risen only slightly over a year ago.

In a mid-year economic report, Mr. Eisenhower declared confidently that historians of earlier days would have described the period as one of "great prosperity."

He admitted that some industries and cities have been seriously affected by economic dips although the declines have been small on an overall national basis.

But he said the administration's economic program being legislated by Congress will help to reduce unemployment and spur private enterprise.

Cites Signs of Improvement

Stating that there are "numerous signs of economic improvement" in the nation, Mr. Eisenhower cited the following:

A "tendency" toward decreasing unemployment recently, rising retail sales, a high rate of spending by business for capital expansion and improvement, a construction boom, reduction in inventories, and "great strength" in the stock market.

"The level of business and consumer confidence in the economic future is high and improving," Mr. Eisenhower said.

The "paramount fact" about the recent business decline has been halted, he said.

The President noted that the federal reserve index of industrial production has moved in an "extremely narrow range" around 125 per cent of the 1947-49 average since March.

"In view of this narrow range of fluctuation in total industrial production during the past six months," he said, "we may justly take an average of the past six months as indicative of the recent level of economic activity."

Although industrial production ran 8.1 per cent lower in the first half of this year than in 1953, he said that this measured only factory and mine output. It omitted construction, which has been booming at record levels, agriculture, transportation, and personal services.

As a measure of activity in these economic fields, Mr. Eisenhower said that the gross national product—the total of all goods and services produced—was only 2.7 per cent below the first half of 1953.

Personal income showed a two-tenths of 1 per cent gain and disposable income rose 1.4 per cent.

Non-agricultural employment was down 2.6 per cent.

"It is fair to conclude from these facts that the recent economic decline, on an overall basis, has been very small," Mr. Eisenhower said.

Justice Department attorneys won the injunction soon after some 3,500 CIO workers here voted to join about 1,000 fellow union members who agreed earlier to strike today at the Paducah, Ky., plant.

The injunction was a temporary one pending a hearing set for next Wednesday. Should the order be made permanent then, an 80-day cooling off period would follow in the four-month-old wage dispute between the CIO union and Carbide and Carbon Chemical Corp. which operates the plants for the government.

Others Walk Out

Union, company and government officials said they would arrange for a settlement at Knoxville Aug. 18.

The government obtained the injunction on grounds that the strike would have imperiled the nation's security by endangering production of uranium 235, an ingredient of atomic and hydrogen bombs.

The President told his news conference Wednesday he was prepared to use any means available to prevent the strike.

The CIO production workers are demanding wage increases of 15 cents an hour. They now make $1.58 to $2.40 an hour.

However, the injunction does not affect 1,650 electricians and painters who walked off their jobs here Wednesday in unrelated disputes.

Nearly 1,000 AFL electricians walked off their jobs at a top-secret construction project in the Y-12 area in a jurisdictional dispute with millwrights. Another 679 electricians and about 77 painters went on strike at a K-33 separation center addition.

File Charges Of Robbery with Deadly Weapon

Charges of robbery with a deadly weapon have been filed in Gallatin county against John Paul Winters and Robert Reeder, Harrisburg youths, it was stated by Gallatin County Sheriff P. C. Cox today.

Their bond was set at $2,500 each and they were bound over to the grand jury, which probably will meet in October, Sheriff Cox stated.

The two Harrisburg youths are charged in connection with the beating and robbery of Clevis Butler, attendant at the Bailey Miller service station, near Equality, about noon Tuesday. When arrested they had $63.60 in their possession.

Butler was taken to the Ferrell hospital in Eldorado and Dr. N. A. Thompson reported today that his condition was much improved, but that he

Another Meeting

Editorial — BY BRUCE BLOSSAT
The Soviet Union obviously thinks it has the West conference happy. First there was Berlin, and then Geneva. Now the Reds want another meeting, this time to talk about a new collective security system for Europe.

The proposal is a trap, and all indications are that the West recognizes it as such.

Russia would like nothing better than to keep the Western powers tied up indefinitely in one conference after another. So long as these meetings are in progress, the West does little toward forwarding the development of its own vitally necessary plans for security.

From the Communist viewpoint, the Berlin conference was pretty much of a flop. The West showed a surprising unity and refused to fall for various fraudulent proposals advanced by Moscow.

But Geneva was something else. Emboldened by the deteriorating French military position in Indo-China, the Communists came closer to getting everything they asked for in the agreed truce. It was a signal victory for communism in Asia, and the Reds readily are exploiting it to the hilt.

In this situation it is natural enough they should want another try at reconciling in Europe. That is the one area where the West has developed really effective programs of defense. Not all these are in being, but enough of them are to give the Kremlin genuine concern.

NATO is the kingpin of the European defense setup today, and the European Defense Army is the plan which can put the final seal of usefulness on that organization. But because EDC involves German armed units among others, France has been tragically reluctant to approve the plan.

And it is this reluctance, plus widespread neutralist spirit in France and elsewhere, that Russia has sought again and again to turn to its advantage.

As usual, Russia plays upon the gullibility of many Europeans by tossing out tempting offers. It has even revived its earlier proposal that the Soviet Union itself join NATO.

Were that ever agreed to, NATO's value as a security arrangement would be quickly ended.

No doubt the Kremlin realizes this idea won't be taken seriously. What it may earnestly hope, however, is that another conference could be held which might drag on so long that all prospect of French ratification of EDC would be over.

The West has lost enough at Geneva through the Indo-China truce. Let us not help the Communists to further their goal of world conquest by sitting down with them again to discuss Europe. If we do, we may end only by making Europe secure for the Communists.

The WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

BY DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON Says:
Government Secrecy Still Flourishes Despite Ike's Order; State Department Hushes Up Ambassadors' Cables Criticizing McCarthy; Surplus Wheat Turned Into Rice Could Feed Far East.

WASHINGTON. — President Eisenhower's much-publicized order allegedly opening all government information to the public unless it involves national security is not doing so well.

Legitimate news is being hushed up just as much as ever. Here are two current cases:

1. Reaction to McCarthy — last year the State Department sent cables to American embassies abroad asking the reason for the alarming slump in U. S. prestige and popularity abroad. Without exception, American ambassadors reported that the No. 1 reason was McCarthy.

Today those State Department reports are marked "top secret" and are not available to the press. Furthermore, senators investigating McCarthy will not be able to get them. They do not involve the security of the nation and, under the official announcement made by the President should be open to the public for publication. But they aren't.

2. Author of Dixon-Yates contract — one of the best-kept secrets in Washington is who inside the Budget Bureau prepared the Dixon-Yates plans for a government-financed private power plant, with no competitive bidding, in the Tennessee Valley area.

The plan was worked out inside the Budget Bureau, and it is reported that a public utilities "expert" came in from the outside, worked a few weeks with the Budget Bureau, then went to work for Dixon-Yates.

Obviously this information has nothing to do with the security of the nation and, under White House rules, should be made public. However, when questions were asked at the Budget Bureau, here is a play-by-play account of what happened:

CHARMING BUT ADAMANT

"We don't have a list of the people who worked on the Dixon-Yates plan," stated Virginia De Pury, charming spokeswoman for the Budget Bureau.

"Could you draw up a list?" she was asked.

"No, that would be too much trouble."

"We'll be happy to do the work for you if you will simply authorize us to make the necessary inquiries," this column countered.

"This is a public building," Miss De Pury snapped. "You can go around and ask any questions you wish."

Atomic: Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (Tex.) threw his support behind a move to send the administration's atomic energy bill back to a Senate-House conference committee to be re-drafted along the lines of the original Senate measure. Opponents of the bill thought they had a good chance to force a rewrite of the controversial section on atomic patents.

They tossed aside the idea of a renewed filibuster but said most Democrats were behind their move to send the House-passed compromise bill back to a joint conference committee to rewrite the patent section.

Acting late Wednesday night, the Senate agreed to vote on the bill Friday, allowing only three more hours for debate. But Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (Tex.) refused to predict the outcome of comment on his role in the fight.

Foes of the bill seek to restore a provision which specifies that private holders of patents on atomic devices or processes must share them for a fee with all comers for at least five years.

Senate Proves It

Can Get Things Done

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate has proved it can get things done in a hurry. It zipped through about 400 bills Wednesday with hardly a word of debate.

Texan Flies Under London Bridge, Fails To Impress Girl

LONDON (UPI) — A lanky Texan, who started London Wednesday by flying a small rented airplane between the towers of London's historic Tower Bridge and under the crowded span of London Bridge, said today he did it all for love.

But he sadly confessed that his flying did fail to impress his home-town girl friend.

The "mystery man" in the 14-gallon hat stepped forward today and identified himself as "Gene" Thompson, from Lubbock, Texas.

Gene, 25, and admittedly pretty much in love, told his story from aboard the liner S. S. Atlantic at Le Havre, France, where he was safe from pursuing British bobbies. "I did it to impress a girl I was in love with," Gene said.

"Trouble is, it didn't prove a thing," the 6-foot, 3-inch Texan Air Force veteran said wryly.

Thompson visited Britain with a traveling party from Texas Tech. Included in the party was the pretty, blue-eyed blonde he sought to impress.

"Name of Helen Brown," he said. "From Lubbock. A home town girl friend."

Thompson said she "sort of challenged me" to duplicate the feat of a 61-year-old Briton, Major Christopher Darper, who flew under 15 Thames River bridges in succession in May, 1953.

"Two bridges were all Helen demanded," he said.

Wednesday night when he boarded the Atlantic he showed Helen the London headlines telling what he had done.

She wasn't impressed, he said.

Church Committee to Urge Promotion for Peaceful Co-Existence

CHICAGO (UPI) — A policy-making committee announced it will advise the World Council of Churches to promote peaceful co-existence of the United States with Russia.

Leaders of the 20-man group drafting an agenda to be considered by the WCC in suburban Evanston next week said Wednesday the two major problems for debate were co-existence and the control of the hydrogen bomb.

Sir Kenneth Grubb, Church of England layman, said "Peaceful co-existence did not mean that evil would be condoned."

Another member said "Peaceful co-existence means a mutual adjustment of policies to eliminate or curb these frictions most likely to engender war."

Narcotics Ring Smashed

NEW YORK (UPI) — An international narcotics syndicate handling millions of dollars of pure, uncut heroin has been smashed. James C. Ryan of the Federal Bureau of Narcotics announced today.

Fourteen of the "top violators" in the nation were arrested after 11 months of undercover work by a narcotics agent who posed as a dope peddler, Ryan said.

An agent intercepted a heroin sale on a Bronx street corner and made the first two of the 14 arrests at 11 p. m. Wednesday amid a brief flurry of shooting.

Ryan said agents purchased more than $25,000 worth of heroin in their long pursuit of the gang.

The 14 arrested men were linked by Ryan to an international dope ring with headquarters in Mexico City and Montreal, Canada.

She is survived by her husband, Oscar; two sons, Henry and Buren, both of Peoria; two brothers, Walter Shepherd, Anna, Ill., and Fred Shepherd, Christopher; two half brothers, Ike Shepherd, Thompsonville RFD and Logan Shepherd, West Frankfort; four grandchildren, and one sister, Mrs. Dannie Mooney, Raymond.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

A wise man feareth, and departeth from evil; but the fool rageth, and is confident.—Prov. 14:16.

Men have recklessly taken chances that ruined them. It is well to ask, is it moral, is it wise? It is better to be safe than sorry.

Another Meeting

Editorial — BY BRUCE BIASSET
The Soviet Union obviously thinks it has the West conference happy. First there was Berlin, and then Geneva. Now the Reds want another meeting, this time to talk about a new collective security system for Europe.

The proposal is a trap, and all indications are that the West recognizes it as such.

Russia would like nothing better than to keep the Western powers tied up indefinitely in one conference after another. So long as these meetings are in progress, the West does little toward forwarding the development of its own vitally necessary plans for security.

From the Communist viewpoint, the Berlin conference was pretty much of a flop. The West showed a surprising unity and refused to fall for various fraudulent proposals advanced by Moscow.

But Geneva was something else. Emboldened by the deteriorating French military position in Indo-China, the Communists came fairly close to getting everything they asked for in the agreed truce. It was a signal victory for communism in Asia, and the Reds already are exploiting it to the hilt.

In this situation it is natural enough they should want another try at recouping in Europe. That is the one area where the West has developed really effective programs of defense. Not all these are in being, but enough of them are to give the Kremlin genuine concern.

NATO is the kingpin of the European defense setup today, and the European Defense Army is the plan which can put the final seal of usefulness on that organization. But because EDC involves German armed units among others, France has been tragically reluctant to approve the plan.

And it is this reluctance, plus widespread neutralist spirit in France and elsewhere, that Russia has sought again and again to turn to its advantage.

As usual, Russia plays upon the gullibility of many Europeans by tossing out tempting offers. It has even revived its earlier proposal that the Soviet Union itself join NATO.

Were that ever agreed to, NATO's value as a security arrangement would be quickly ended.

No doubt the Kremlin realizes this idea won't be taken seriously. What it may earnestly hope, however, is that another conference could be held which might drag on so long that all prospect of French ratification of EDC would be over.

The West has lost enough at Geneva through the Indo-China truce. Let us not help the Communists to further their goal of world conquest by sitting down with them again to discuss Europe. If we do, we may end only by making Europe secure for the Communists.

DREW PEARSON Says: Government Secrecy Still Flourishes Despite Ike's Order; State Department Bushes Up Ambassadors' Cables Criticizing McCarthy; Surplus Wheat Turned Into Rice Could Feed Far East.

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower's much-publicized order allegedly opening all government information to the public unless it involves national security is not doing so well.

Legitimate news is being hushed up just as much as ever. Here are two current cases:

1. Reaction to McCarthy — last year the State Department sent cables to American embassies abroad asking the reason for the alarming slump in U. S. prestige and popularity abroad. Without exception, American ambassadors reported that the No. 1 reason was McCarthy.

2. Author of Dixon-Yates contract — One of the best-kept secrets in Washington is who inside the Budget Bureau prepared the Dixon-Yates plans for a government-financed private power plant, with no competitive bidding, in the Tennessee Valley area.

The plan was worked out inside the Budget Bureau, and it is reported that a public utility "export" came in from the outside, worked a few weeks with the Budget Bureau, then went to work for Dixon-Yates.

Obviously this information has nothing to do with the security of the nation and, under White House rules, should be made public. However, when questions were asked at the Budget Bureau, here is a play-by-play account of what happened:

CHARMING BUT ADAMANT

"We don't have a list of the people who worked on the Dixon-Yates plan," stated Virginia De Pury, charming spokesman for the Budget Bureau.

"Could you draw up a list?" she was asked.

"No, that would be too much trouble."

"We'll be happy to do the work for you if you will simply authorize us to make the necessary inquiries," this column countered.

"This is a public building," Miss De Pury snapped. "You can go around and ask any questions you wish."

"But everyone is afraid to talk," she was told. "They send me back to you. Now if you will let me say it is all right for them to talk, I can get the names without troubling you further."

Miss De Pury refused.

"Are these names a matter of national security?" she was asked further.

"I don't know."

"It may be embarrassing to reveal the names of those who worked on the Dixon-Yates plan, but it certainly isn't a military secret," the lady was further pressed.

"Under the President's directive, non-security information is supposed to be open to the public."

"Jim Hagerty (White House press aide) says we don't have to give out conversations between government officials," she shot back.

"Did we ask for any conversations?"

"The people who worked on the Dixon-Yates plan had to talk to each other," she bristled.

"We didn't ask for what they said to each other," Miss De Pury was reminded. "We only want to know their identities."

"Why don't you ask President Eisenhower?" she suggested angrily, then withdrew the suggestion.

In the end, this column appealed directly to budget boss Rowland Hughes for the names. His reply, phoned back by Miss De Pury, was: "No comment."

GERMAN HIGHHANDEDNESS

If the Reece committee should ever focus attention on the investigation of lobbies instead of charitable foundations — which it won't — it would find that the German lobby was about the most powerful in Washington.

It has hired some of the top ex-senators and law firms in the nation's capital to try to rush a bill through Congress to hand back the former Nazi cartels seized by the United States during the war.

The Germans have been so cocky in their demands that their swaggering manner has almost alienated some of their own lawyers.

If the fee wasn't so high, I'd pull out," confided one American attorney. "The Germans seem to think they can't get anything out of the United States just because we need them to oppose the Russians."

Meanwhile, some of our former allies, the Dutch, Belgians, French and British, who sold their property in the United States to get currency exchange with which to pay for war goods, are watching lightheaded German tactics with skepticism and bitterness.

WHEAT FOR RICE

A method by which our huge supplies of surplus wheat could be turned into rice to feed the Orient has been rediscovered by Dr. Francis Weiss, author of "Foods in the Bible."

"But everyone is afraid to talk," she was told. "They send me back to you. Now if you will let me say it is all right for them to talk, I can get the names without troubling you further."

Miss De Pury refused.

"Are these names a matter of national security?" she was asked further.

American flag ships. It now goes to the Senate.

Atomic: Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (Tex.) threw his support behind a move to send the administration's atomic energy bill back to a Senate-House conference committee to be re-drafted along the lines of the original Senate measure. Opponents of the bill thought they had a good chance to force a rewriting of the controversial section on atomic patents.

They tossed aside the idea of a renewed filibuster but said most Democrats were behind their move to send the House-passed compromise bill back to a joint conference committee to rewrite the patent section.

Acting late Wednesday night, the Senate agreed to vote on the bill Friday, allowing only three more hours for debate. But Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (Tex.) refused to predict the outcome or comment on his role in the fight.

Foes of the bill seek to restore a provision which specifies that private holders of patents on atomic devices or processes must share them for a fee with all comers for at least five years.

Gene, 25, and admittedly pretty much in love, told his story from board the liner S. S. Atlantic at Le Havre, France, where he was safe from pursuing British bobbies. "I did it to impress a girl I was in love with," Gene said.

"Trouble is, it didn't prove a thing," the 6-foot, 3-inch Korean Air Force veteran said wryly.

Thompson visited Britain with a touring party from Texas Tech. Included in the party was the pretty, blue-eyed blonde he sought to impress.

"Name of Helen Brown," he said. "From Lubbock. A home-town girl friend."

Thompson said she "sort of challenged me" to duplicate the feat of a 61-year-old Briton, Major Christopher Darper, who flew under 12 Thames River bridges in succession in May, 1953.

"Two bridges were all Helen demanded," he said.

Wednesday night when he boarded the Atlantic he showed Helen the London headlines telling what he had done.

She wasn't impressed, he said.

Church Committee to Urge Promotion for Peaceful Co-Existence

CHICAGO (UPI) — A policy-making committee announced it will advise the World Council of Churches to promote peaceful co-existence of the United States with Russia.

Leaders of the 20-man group drafting an agenda to be considered by the WCC in suburban Evanston next week said Wednesday the two major problems for debate were co-existence and the control of the hydrogen bomb.

Sir Kenneth Grubb, Church of England layman, said "Peaceful co-existence did not mean that evil would be condoned."

Another member said "Peaceful co-existence means a mutual adjustment of policies to eliminate or curb these frictions most likely to engender war."

Order Reduction

In Downstate Fire

Insurance Rates

SPRINGFIELD — The State Insurance Department today announced a 1 1/2-million-dollar cut in premiums for certain types of insurance sold in Illinois.

Acting Director Laddie T. Pelnar said the cuts have been ordered effective Aug. 23 in extended coverage endorsement rates in Cook County, and in downstate fire insurance rates.

Pelnar said there will be a $1,100,000 cut in Cook County extended coverage rates and $400,000 in downstate fire premiums.

Extended coverage is an endorsement on a fire insurance policy which makes it cover wind, storm, hail and other damage.

Pelnar said the Cook County rates will be reduced from 9 to 8 cents on each $100 on homes, and from 8 to 7.4 cents on commercial buildings.

Pelnar said the downstate fire premium cut will be placed into effect by the Illinois Inspection Bureau, which represents 96 per cent of the companies doing business downstate.

Faces Electrocution

Tonight in N. Y. for

Slaying FBI Agent

OSINSING, N. Y. (UPI) — Gerhard A. Puff, a German immigrant who became one of the nation's 10 most wanted criminals, was scheduled to be executed in Sing Sing Prison tonight for the slaying of an FBI agent in a New York City hotel two years ago.

Puff, whose last appeal for a new trial was refused by President Eisenhower last Friday, will be electrocuted in the prison's death house at 11 p. m. EDT.

The slight, 40-year-old bank robber was convicted on May 16, 1953, of the slaying of Joseph J. Brock, a 44-year-old FBI agent, in a pistol duel in New York's Congress Hotel.

Puff was wanted for the robbery of the Johnson County National Bank of Prairie Village, Kans., of $62,655 with the help of another bank robber high on the FBI's rottier, George Arthur Heroux.

Sports Briefs

NEW YORK (UP) — Spain and Western Germany, which boast two of the best equestrian teams in Europe, are almost certain to compete against the U.S., Canada and Mexico during the National Horse Show which opens at Madison Square Garden on Nov. 2, the American Horse Shows Assn. announced today.

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UP) — The National Collegiate Athletic Association executive committee will begin a two-day meeting Saturday in Chicago. Executive Director Walter Byers announced today. Byers said the sessions will consider NCAA finances, consider 1955 championship events and review plans for televising winter and spring sports after the 1954 collegiate football TV program ends.

YPSILANTI, Mich. (UP) — Coach Buddy Parker of the Detroit Lions, who earned the right to change his mind by winning two straight National Football League championships, reversed his field today and announced all 52 Lions would play in Friday night's game against the College All-Stars.

Parker had said Tuesday that only about 35 Lions would take part in the game at Chicago. The NFL champions will run through a brief drill today before leaving by plane for Chicago.

STEVENS POINT, Wis. (UP) — Coach Lisle Blackbourn of the Green Bay Packers said today he would take 49 players to Minneapolis for an exhibition game with the Chicago Bears Saturday night.

Blackbourn, who has released six men during the past week, said there would be no more cuts until the Saturday contest.

Turner's, James, Karnes, Texaco Win Kiwanis Games

Turner's, James Bros., Karnes and Texaco teams won games played yesterday in the Kiwanis leagues.

James' two-run homer in the last of the seventh gave the James Bros. nine a close 14-13 victory over the AAA. Boyett, the winner, allowed 12 hits while his teammates garnered 18 off the AAA's Wilson. Hegglin had four hits in as many tries for the losers and Robertson had four safeties for the winners.

The Texaco Chiefs downed Walker's Cleaners, 5-2, in a pitchers' duel between Aldridge of Walker's and Dowdy of the Texacos. Both hurlers allowed but three hits but Texaco spiked theirs with eight walks and two errors. Hitting honors went to Byron of Walker's and Furlong of Texaco with two each.

Turner's defeated the Elks, 18-2, in a five inning contest. "Butch" Biggs allowed only five hits while collecting three himself. Hancock, the losing pitcher, led the Elks at bat with three hits in the same number of trips to the plate.

Karnes Hardware beat Pankey's, 12-0, as Zan Hefner pitched a two-hitter. White was the losing hurler, allowing 11 hits and 12 runs. Stone was the leading hitter for Karnes with four for four. Moore had a single and Dunning a long double for Pankey's only hits.

While everyone and his brother is shooting for Babe Ruth's record, the smooth-swinging, 6-foot, 2-inch "Klu" is aiming in a vastly different direction.

"Let 'em all go for Ruth's record," he says, grinning. "I'm just trying to better Kluszewski's record. I hit 40 homers last year and I'd like to top that if I could this year."

Third in HR Department

By walloping his pair of homers off loser Warren Hacker, Kluszewski moved into third place in the home run department. Willie Mays of the Giants leads with 36 while Hank Sauer of the Cubs and Eddie Mathews of the Braves are tied for second with 32 each.

Jim Greengrass also nicked Hacker for a pair, his 19th and 20th of the season, and Ed Bailey smacked his eighth. Art Fowler breezed to his ninth victory and the Redlegs moved to within three games of fourth place.

The Dodgers rallied for two runs in the sixth inning to nip the Phillies, 3-2, and cut the idle New York Giants' lead to 3-1-2 games behind the pitching of Billy Loes. Duke Snider who tagged loser Murry Dickson for his 28th homer in the fourth inning, then doubled on the heels of PeeWee Reese's two-bagger to tie the score at 2-all in the sixth. Snider came in with the winning run on Gil Hodges' single.

Braves Edge Cards, 6-5

Milwaukee moved within seven games of the top by edging St. Louis, 6-5, in a game called because of rain with the Braves at bat in the eighth inning. The Braves scored the deciding run in the seventh off Gerry Staley on Danny O'Connell's double and Joe Adecock's single. Mathews hit his 32nd homer during a four-run rally in the fifth inning. Former Pope County Girl Best Artist-Engrosser in U. S.

Has Inscribed
Invitations for
Two Inaugurations

By ALTA PORTER

Receiving poor marks in writing at a country school in Pope county in the early 1900's, sat Fay King, a pretty blue-eyed black-haired little girl, pen in hand, and firmly resolved to improve her penmanship.

When she was 11 and had received 100 on six writing lessons, she proudly showed them to her father, Ira King, expecting a pat on the back. Her eyes twinkled as she said, "My father took a look at the notebook and merely asked 'Honey, is that the best you can write?'"

Everybody in her family could write better than she could. After that she said "It seemed that what I was weakest in was that in which I was determined to make myself strongest."

For the past ten years she has been the official engrosser for the United States government.

As Fay King (Mrs. Lawrence E. Imhoff), pen artist-engrosser-designer, she has addressed presidents, cabinet members, congressmen, ambassadors, clergymen, in fact all of official and unofficial in Washington, D. C.

For it was she who inscribed and addressed almost 39,000 invitations to President Truman's 1949 inauguration and the inaugural balls, and approximately 56,000 to President Eisenhower's inaugural ceremony and festivities.

These commissions demanded Mrs. Imhoff's beautiful penmanship plus speed — with no errors or smudges. Washington television photographers who filmed her skill for newscasting rated her accuracy as but one mistake in 700 names. They estimated she inscribed a name on an invitation in 12 seconds and addressed the envelope in 22 seconds.

Miss King is strictly non-partisan. She spent 38 days of 19 hours and 12 minutes each addressing 30,000 invitations to the Truman Inaugural ball in 1949. In 1952 it was to the Eisenhower-Nixon inauguration and ball that required her dexterity, which included 20 different pen styles.

This variety of pen styles is not exactly the result of childhood precocity. In her one room school room on Lusk creek, penmanship was her worst subject. It was not until she began her high school work at Carbondale when the university there was a Normal school that she had much direction in her ambition to improve her hand writing. Tracy Bryant was her interested penmanship teacher and it was from his encouragement that she made great gains and laid the foundation for a career which rivals fiction in its romantic achievements.

After graduating from Carbondale Normal school, she returned to Pope county to teach school, and taught for a while at Rocky Branch in Saline county. That was about the time that the use of the Palmer method of penmanship was being stressed in the public schools in Harrisburg. Eventually by going to night school and summer school she earned more than 100 certificates from pen writing institutes, sometimes studying under the originators of writing systems. One of these was A. M. Palmer, whom she helped later to revise his manual.

Her college and post graduate record shows she won national scholarships to Southern Illinois University, Northwestern, Columbia and the University of Paris. Through the years, a woman of varied avocations, she has been a traveler abroad, Red Cross worker, Girl Scout leader, police officer and designer of engravings.

During the depression she left her poorly paid school teaching position to become a woman police officer in Detroit. While working there as a probation officer she found the social service she had rendered in southern Illinois to Girl Scouts, a help in dealing with delinquent children. When there was a break in probation, she would talk to the probationer's family, often pray with them. She worked to reunite separated couples and mend homes.

During World War II, she served with the Red Cross in Europe, and there again her police work helped her to carry on a special and secret assignment during which she was unable to reveal her address or have any correspondence with her family.

Later moving to Washington, D. C. Miss King accepted employment by Congressman Morrison from Louisiana. There she met her husband, Lawrence E. Imhoff, an ex-congressman from Ohio who is a veteran of World War I and World War II, and is at present a judge in the Veteran's Court of Appeals.

As a favor for two years of her residence in Washington, the energetic artist inscribed certificates awarded by the National Conference of Christians and Jews to its Illinois at least once a year, and was a distinguished guest at an alumni meeting at SIU last June.

For some of the exquisite designs she makes with pen and ink now, she receives as much as $300 per hour, one of her kinsmen said. Various kinds of citation scrolls and medals issued by the government were designed by this former Pope county girl, whose designs are all recorded in the National Archives.

Her handwriting speaks for itself. It once drew a response from President Franklin D. Roosevelt. In 1945 as a Congressional secretary, she did penwork for the Joint Committee on Printing and during the assignment she addressed an envelope to the President. After receiving it he telephoned the Committee to ask the name of the "gentleman pen artist."

As a result she did special tasks for the President such as lettering for the personal library of President Roosevelt.

More recently Vice-President Nixon wanted each of the two Nixon children to own a family Bible on which he took the oath of office. Mrs. Imhoff made it possible by duplicating pages of family signatures of one Bible and inserting the copies and antiqued pages of another Bible. Both Bibles were used at the inauguration.

"These interesting experiences come to you; you don't have to go out to get them," said Mrs. Imhoff. "I think they come from a religious background, sincerity, and from the heart," she said in an interview with Jane Loyer, for the Christian Science Monitor on July 29.

Judge Imhoff likes to show visitors a large oil painting which his wife did for him.

Her published poems and paintings are cherished keepsakes among her southern Illinois relatives. Following the death of her mother, her father went to Herrin and resides with his youngest daughter, Mrs. Arvel (Lucille) Phillips and family at 605 South Eighth street. Mrs. Phillips loaned the scroll and inaugural invitation which accompanies this letter and a brother, Loy King, Johnston City, took the photograph.

The photograph was taken when Mrs. Imhoff resigned a month ago as government engrosser, to devote her time to her own studio which she has set up in Washington. She has designed a series of lessons in penmanship which are sold in sets of six lessons for $70. Jean King, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Loy King, who is a student at Baylor university, is taking the course.

Gloria Jean, another daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Loy King, whose wedding to the Rev. Otto Jackson Brown, took place at Johnston City First Baptist church August 6, sent out wedding invitations designed by "Aunt Fay," who came to the wedding and flew back to Washington Tuesday.

The writer just missed an interview with Mrs. Imhoff by a few hours, and was happy to find so many examples of her penmanship and art in the homes of her brothers and sisters. Another brother, Ray, lives in Herrin and a sister, Mrs. Golda Bernard, lives at Glen Dale. The younger children in the King family all attended Golconda high school and Southern Illinois university.

Mrs. Imhoff comes to southern

Assessment List

Herewith is a list of real estate property assessments for Harrisburg township in the area inside the City of Harrisburg as made by the assessor of Harrisburg township and returned to PAUL HILLIARD, County Treasurer and Supervisor of Assessments of Saline County, Illinois.

The assessed values shown are subject to revision by the Saline County Board of Review and to equalization by the State Department of Revenue. Under Provisions of Section 146 of the Illinois Revenue Act of 1939 as amended in 1945, the Department of Revenue is required to determine the percentage relationship within each county of assessed value and the estimated full, fair cash value. Upon the basis of such data, the Department is required to raise or lower the total locally assessed values so that all such property will be assessed at its full, fair cash value.

These equalized values then become the base for tax extension for 1954 taxes, payable in 1955, and indicate the full, fair cash value of the properties assessed, based on the assessed values as made by the local assessment officials.

This publication, which is made in accordance with section 103 of the Revenue Act, serves as public notice to the taxpayers of the County of assessed values fixed upon their property by the township assessor.

BITTER SAGE

By Frank Gruber

Copyright 1954 by Frank Gruber

THE STORY: Sage City is a this." He picked up the tumblerful of whiskey.

The Texas man winced but drained off the huge amount of whiskey. He sputtered and choked and Hong Kong Smith slapped him on the back.

"Next man," he sang out.

"Baker," cried a Texas man. Smith refilled the big glass of whiskey and forced it on the man called Baker. He paid him his $42, boozing out, "You don't spend any of that. Not today, you don't. Today Hong Kong Smith pays the bill."

"Hooray for Hong Kong Smith!" yelled a man and the ovation was taken up by every man in the Texas Saloon.

Lily Leeds came out of her office. Hong Kong Smith whooped when he saw her. "Lily, my girl, you get prettier every time I see you."

"Oh, it's you again," said Lily in disgust.

"That's what I like about you—your sense of humor," roared Smith. He swooped Lily into his arms. "Give us a kiss, Lily girl."

She slapped his face, but the big man crushed her to him and forced her face up. He kissed her resoundingly and when he released her, she rocked his head with hard slaps. But Smith was impervious.

A half hour later they smashed four tables in the Texas Saloon and broke the back-bar mirror.

Marshal Kinnaird and his deputies, acting upon instructions from Mayor Fugger, discreetly stayed out of the way of the brawling men.

Shortly before 12 Lake Miller

brought a couple of sheets of copy paper to Tancred.

Tancred's eyes skimmed over the story, which bore the head, "The Devil and Texas Rule Sage City." Luke Miller pulled no punches. Jacob Fugger, he said, catered to the lawless Texas men, because they were making him rich. The Kansas & Western Railroad paid him $1 for every Texas steer that was shipped from Sage City. Fugger saw that the Texas cowboys received hard cash in Sage City, instead of at their homes in Texas. And through his stores and saloons, Fugger saw that that money was taken away from them.

Fugger owned Sage City and he pulled the strings the way they suited him. Right now it suited him to let the Texas men run wild and the citizens of Sage City could expect only violence and bloodshed. The law would not curb the Texas men because Fugger owned the law.

Right now, if you were a Texas man and it suited you to insult a Sage City woman on the streets, that was perfectly all right. If you felt like breaking a few windows about town, no one would punish you for indulging your whim. Or, maybe your fancy ran to riding your horse on the sidewalks or into stores. Go right ahead, no one would stop you. As long as you paid your tribute to Jacob Fugger.

"I'll set it up," said Tancred.

"After lunch will be all right . . . Fugger will never forgive me for that."

"He's not exactly your friend right now."

"Now he'll really put on the screws. But there's an election in a month. My only chance is to try to rouse the local voters enough so they'll vote Fugger and his clique out of office. If they don't, I'm through in Sage City."

Tancred washed his hands and left the shop. He walked to South Street and crossed to go to the Bon Ton Cafe. As he walked along he heard angry yelling in McCoy's Saloon, then two quick shots.

Shortly before 12 Lake Miller

Pay is Not Only Lure for Teachers

EVANSTON, Ill. — P — Teachers take romance and glamour into account as well as salary when they cast about for jobs, officials of the National College of Education report.

Hawaii, for example, attracts Jane graduates with its vacation lure and tropical life even though beginning salary there is comparatively low at $2,000.

Other new teachers take the western states, despite somewhat remote locations, because of relatively high starting scales. California pays $3,700 to $3,800 and Portland, Ore., $3,400.

During the past 20 years, according to National College placement records, beginning salaries for teachers have risen on the average of $11 a year from $1,075 in 1934 to $1,500 in 1944 and $2,600 in 1948.

This year, June education graduates were being offered slightly higher than the average of $3,200 which was paid to 1953 graduates.

Household Hints

Because fresh laundry soap contains considerable moisture, unwrap it and let it "age" a few weeks before use. The soap will last longer.

Protect your thumb when slicing vegetables by putting adhesive tape on it.

Custard will bake evenly, and not become watery, if you place the baking dish in a pan of water.

To keep egg yolks fresh for several days, cover them with cold water and store in the refrigerator.

Coy's and made for the horses at the hitchrail. He mounted one and galloped up the street, emptying his revolver at the blue sky.

System Outlined For Nagging Wives

NILES, O. — One harried husband may have the answer to the old problem of the nagging wife.

Police found him curled up in the front seat of his automobile when answering a call about a "dead man in a parked car."

He was far from dead. It was just his way of handling his wife, as he explained it to officers:

"My wife is a shrew. When she raises a fuss, I leave the house. I drive around awhile until I'm sleepy. I park and fall asleep. Meanwhile, she worries about where I am. Then she makes up her mind I'm probably getting drunk. That makes her madder, gives her a chance to bawl me out some more. But I surprise her, when I go out I stay sober, meanwhile, she worries some more. Finally, I come home. She smells my breath and puts her conscience to work overtime. She welcomes me with open arms. I go to sleep. No fight. No lost sleep."

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Hancock Tour Ozarks On Vacation Trip

Mr. and Mrs. Earl M. Hancock returned recently from a vacation trip that took them to Gary, Ind., where they visited their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Steve Hancock, and new baby, David, and Beaumont, Tex., where they spent a week with their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Koch, and their new baby boy, Gordon Lee.

On the trip back from Texas they made a tour of the Ozark Mountains, spending the first night in Texarkana, a night on Lake Norfolk at Gamble, Ark. In Murphysboro, Ark., they viewed the "Diamond Crater" and just cut of Hot Springs the "Diamond Crystal Mine." They also visited the "Mystic Cavern" in Harrison.

Even Chivalry Has To Bow to Electronics

ST. LOUIS — Chivalry isn't dead among St. Louis' policemen, but electronics have made it take a back seat.

When five women drivers, all charged with speeding by the same officer, showed up in court, Assistant City Counselor Roy A. Fish remarked jokingly to the arresting officer, "The age of chivalry must be gone."

"My chivalry is all right," the officer replied. "Those five tickets were handed out because the ladies were clocked by radar speed controls."
